

Andy Fejseth

You take pride in your equipment. When a belt is loose or squealing, you tighten it. But what about the most important piece of equipment on your operation? That's you. If your mind isn't running on all cylinders, you can't be effective for your farm or your family. Don't ranch on it alone. If something's not quite right, call someone who can help.

Get free, confidential guidance from wherever you are. You can't control the weather, but you can control how you react. To connect with the professional, head to beyond the weather.com.