

Food and Ag Development Centers

EDEN FEEDS

SUCCESS STORY

The Project

Eden Feeds is a locally owned feed manufacturer in Great Falls that uses locally grown MT wheat and pulse crops to make a popular non-GMO animal feed. Five years ago, Tom and Laura Kropf began looking for a healthy brand of feed for their farm animals, but only found feed brands that were affordable, but conventional or organic, but expensive. They realized they had found an underserved niche in the feed market: affordable, non-GMO animal feed. Eden Feeds was born!

Since that time, Eden Feed has grown to being sold in sixty stores in 7 states.

$50,000

in Awarded Grant Funds

www.edenfeeds.com

For More Info:

Great Falls Development Alliance
Anna Flies | (406) 590-1301
anna@growgreatfalls.org

To ensure the excellence of their feed, they source their grains and pulse crops from local farmers in Montana and have recently moved to a larger facility to meet the demand for their popular chicken feed.

In February 2024, Eden Feeds was awarded a $50,000 Growth Through Agriculture grant to purchase additional equipment for their most recent expansion needs to keep up with their increased demand. You can find Eden Feeds at North 40, Murdoch's or your local feed store.

Funded by and in partnership with:

